

YEAST PROPAGATION AND HYDRATION

The Yeast Rehydration System is a single-block structure mounted on wheels containing an integrated system designed to automatically manage the yeast rehydration and activation phase for the active dry yeast selected to be injected into the fermentation tank.

